DETAILED ACTION

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 112

1. The following is a quotation of the second paragraph of 35 U.S.C. 112:

The specification shall conclude with one or more claims particularly pointing out and distinctly claiming the subject matter which the applicant regards as his invention.

2. Claims 1-5 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 112, second paragraph, as being indefinite for failing to particularly point out and distinctly claim the subject matter which applicant regards as the invention.

- a. The claims are generally narrative and indefinite, failing to conform with current U.S. practice. They appear to be a literal translation into English from a foreign document and are replete with minor grammatical and idiomatic errors.
- b. Claims 2-4 all appear to have been intended as dependent claims as they recite various limitations with the term "the" even though mentioned for the first time in the claim. There is insufficient antecedent basis for this limitation in the claim.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

3. The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

Art Unit: 3749

4. The factual inquiries set forth in Graham v. John Deere Co., 383 U.S. 1, 148 USPQ 459 (1966), that are applied for establishing a background for determining obviousness under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) are summarized as follows:

1. Determining the scope and contents of the prior art.
2. Ascertaining the differences between the prior art and the claims at issue.
3. Resolving the level of ordinary skill in the pertinent art.
4. Considering objective evidence present in the application indicating obviousness or nonobviousness.

5. This application currently names joint inventors. In considering patentability of the claims under 35 U.S.C. 103(a), the examiner presumes that the subject matter of the various claims was commonly owned at the time any inventions covered therein were made absent any evidence to the contrary. Applicant is advised of the obligation under 37 CFR 1.56 to point out the inventor and invention dates of each claim that was not commonly owned at the time a later invention was made in order for the examiner to consider the applicability of 35 U.S.C. 103(c) and potential 35 U.S.C. 102(e), (f) or (g) prior art under 35 U.S.C. 103(a).

6. Claims 1-5, as understood, are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Hsu (5,094,259), which discloses substantially all of the claimed limitations, as understood. Hsu discloses a timer device for a gas range for automatic shut-off including, among other things, a housing 1, a wheel 14, a motor, a microswitch LS, a circuit 10 (see at least fig. 9), spring 16, drive shaft 910, and a knob 3. Hsu does not specifically recite the wheel including a v-shaped cross section or a leaf spring.

Official Notice is given that wheels including a v-shaped cross sections or a leaf springs are old and well known in the art to be functionally equivalent to a drive shaft and coil spring, respectively. The selection of one equivalent over another is a matter of design choice based on manufacturing considerations. Accordingly, it would have been obvious to one of ordinary skill in the art at the time of invention to incorporate the wheel including a v-shaped cross section and leaf spring into the invention disclosed by Hsu, so as to provide for manufacturing considerations.
